Dentists Plan Convention In City

The Ohio State Dental Association will hold its 1962 convention in Cincinnati, beginning September 30, at the Hotel Netherland Hilton. The date has been announced by Dr. James A. Hartman, a Cincinnati dentist, who will be installed as president of the state organization at its centennial convention November 5 to 8 in Columbus.

Dr. Richard K. Mosbaugh, who, with Dr. Hartman is a former president of the Cincinnati Dental Society, has been named general chairman of the 1962 convention.

Dr. Carlos Schott and Dr. Holly C. Jarvis are honorary chairmen.

Honor Rabbin

Sidney Meyers, executive vice president of Fashion Frocks, Inc., is chairman of the Bonds for Israel dinner Sunday at the Losantville Country Club. The dinner will honor Cincinnati's five Reform rabbis, Murray Blackman, Temple; Stanley Brav, Temple; Sholom, Meyers; Albert Goldman, Isaac M. Wise Temple; Victor E. Reichert, Rockdale Temple, and Samuel Wohl, Wise Temple.

Linda Thielmeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thielmeyer, 145 Nansen St., has been elected president of the Classics Club at Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio.

Window Washer Injured In Fall

William Lee, 37, R. R. 2, Mt. Orab, window washer for the Mercantile Library Building, 414 Walnut St., fell 20 feet yesterday morning when he lost his balance while washing windows at a second-floor level.

Police said Lee fell from a ladder and landed on his feet, but suffered fractures of both feet and a possible pelvic fracture.

He was taken to St. Mary Hospital by the life squad. His condition was listed as serious.

STRAY DOGS

Cause Of Concern

To Health Board—Study Of Control Program To Be Made

The City Board of Health voted yesterday to check into methods of handling the problem of dogs running loose in packs.

Dr. Mitchell Zvon, assistant city health commissioner, told the board he would not like to see a tragedy like that in St. Louis when a pack of dogs attacked and killed a child.

The board authorized Dr. Kenneth Macleod, health commissioner, and Dr. Zvon to check with other cities on the problem. A new dog leash law was mentioned as a possibility.

Dr. Zvon said the assistant principal of a school in the eastern section of Cincinnati spent more time chasing away packs of stray dogs at the start of the current school term than in carrying out regular duties. Despite this, four children were bitten by dogs, he added.

CHECKS DOG BITES

Dr. Zvon said the Health Department has one veterinarian occupied solely in checking dog-bite cases. The department checks 2500 dog-bite cases a year, including 250 involving stray dogs, Dr. Zvon said. Council has considered legislation to keep dogs confined to premises several times in the past, but always refused to act in the face of opposition by dog-lovers.

Dr. Zvon told the board that he hopes shortly to recommend to the Building Department regulations for safeguarding window washers. The death rate in this occupation is "stupendous," considering the number employed, he said. He noted that it was dangerous for window washers to work around air conditioners and that some regulations should be adopted to prohibit this.

REORGANIZATION SET

Reorganization of the Alcoholism Information Center was authorized by the board. It will entail abolishing the AIC director office, giving the duties to Dr. James Barnes, Alcoholism Clinic coordinator; placing a part-time secretary at the Municipal Court Psychiatric Clinic to handle calls, and establishing the part-time position of a social worker. Dr. Barnes said reorganization will save money for use in treating some cases. He said $12,000 a year now is spent for the AIC.

The board voted to promote Harold C. Cook, bacteriologist, to assistant superintendent of the Bureau of Laboratories, a new position. The idea is to school him as a possible successor to Dr. Otto Behrer, superintendent, upon his retirement several years hence, Dr. Zvon explained.

The board authorized Dr. Macleod to increase the $1 fee for X rays at health centers to $2, effective January 1. He said 20,000 chest X rays were made at the clinics last year.

Tar Causes Blast

An overheated tar kettle was blamed for an explosion and fire yesterday at the American Metal Products, Inc., 4500 W. Mitchell Ave. The kettle, being used to repair the roof, was outside the building. The blast caused the side of the structure to catch fire. Damage was estimated at $100. Twenty employees left the building for a short time. No one was injured.
